Building permits for the week just past amounted to only $6,800, the largest of which was a permit issued by the Dreesch Construction company, to erect a house, costing approximately $4,600. As the winter season is approaching, it is expected that the number of building permits will lessen. They will probably pick up again in the spring.

M. L. Michael, of the Michael Clothing Company, has sold his property on the northeast corner of High and Pierce streets to Williams Brothers, plumbers, who will use it for their new building site. The property which was formerly the old Black home, is in a good location, and will be splendid for business purposes. The consideration was in the neighborhood of $15,000.

Williams Bros expect to start work sometime after the first of the year on the erection of a two or three story brick building, to cost in the neighborhood of $25,000. They will occupy the lower floor for business purposes, and the upper stories will be used as residential apartments.

One of the most important deals made during the past week, and involving residence property near the downtown business district was the sale of the home of Mrs. Hallie R. Hoover, 1233 North West street, to Mrs. George Albright, for a consideration said to be $20,000. Mrs. Albright purchased the property as an investment, as Mrs. Hoover is leaving for Philadelphia to spend the winter. The house is just north of the property formerly used by the Evans Pie bakery, and is in the same square with the two properties recently purchased by W. L. Russell, the Thornton Mitchell home at the corner of Market and West and the property adjoining, formerly the Salvation Army home.

SUBURBAN PROPERTY.
An important sale of suburban property adjoining Lima is that of the purchase of "Green Gables" farm owned by James Teegarden, by J. H. Devlin, for $30,000. The deal was made through Leint and Block, real estate dealers in farm properties.

Other sales of farm properties near Lima made during the past week in clude:
The sale of 75 acres in American township belonging to Lawrence Verbrake and purchased by Frank Gibson, for $12,000.
Eighty-one acres in Monroe township owned by Mrs. Jennie Knoop, and purchased by W. H. Jones for $15,000.
M. L. Johnson selling a 60 acre farm in Auglaize township to L. B. Dudgeon, for $9,000.
G. H. Adgate of Shawnee township

Reduce your doctor's bills by keeping always on hand selling a 158 acre farm in Shawnee township to Gail Mummaugh for $10,000.
VICKS VAPORINE

Minor C. Crossley has sold a residence property to D. W. Dorris, of Fairview avenue for a consideration of $6,000.

TO ERECT GARAGE.
F. H. Downing, of the firm of Wooty and Downing has purchased two properties at the northwest corner of High and Metcalf streets from W. H. Hall, for a consideration in the neighborhood of $10,000. The lot which is a double one, measures 75 feet on High street and 132 feet on Metcalf street, extending almost a third of the entire square from High to North streets. It is planned to build a modern, up-to-date garage and repair shop on the lot, but as yet full plans have not been completed. The two old houses which now occupy the property will be moved shortly, to make way for the new building.

DEPHOS CITIZEN DIES.
Joseph Altonius, well known resident of Dephos passed away at his home in that city Thursday evening, following a short illness from heart trouble. The deceased is the third member of his family to die within the past 10 months, a sister, Mrs. Emil Meyer, 711 Brice avenue, Lima, and a second sister Mrs. John Fetter, of Carey having preceded him in death within the past year. Funeral services will be held at St. Johns Catholic church, Dephos.

Father Sossong Given Reception

Members of Lima Court No. 1771 Catholic Order of Foresters held a reception last night in honor of Father Sossong, assistant to Rev. John G. Meyer of St. John's parish, who is leaving for Tiffin, where he will take up work as assistant to Father Hergenbotham of St. Mary's parish, that city.

The Foresters presented Father Sossong with a handsome black valise, a travelling bag, as a remembrance.

Speakers of the evening were Rev. John G. Meyer, Rev. John G. Behr, Rev. Henry A. Sippel, Francis Durlin, Rev. Wm. D. Sossong, and John J. Ulin. Vocal selections were given by LeRoy McCarty, Clarence Casey and Max Falk, Jr. Light refreshments were served.

TELLS HOW HE WAS HELPED.
James McCreary, Berrien Center, Mich., says he was troubled with kidney and bladder trouble for two years and used several kinds of medicine without any benefit, but Foley Kidney Pills gave him relief from aches and pains and stopped sleep disturbing bladder ailment. They stop backache and rheumatic pains, ease lameness.

NO SUFFERING FROM LACK OF FOOD IN ENGLAND

Scheme of Motor Transport Quickly Put Into Effect Was Successful

LONDON.—When the railroad men's strike tied up the transportation system of England the ministry of food put into operation a scheme of motor car transport, planned in detail during the war for use in case of German invasion. It worked out so successfully that there was no suffering and virtually no inconvenience from lack of food in the case of London it was a much bigger task than could face any American city because London lives a hand-to-mouth existence in absence of adequate storage facilities.

When the decision to strike was announced the food ministry put in to effect a system of rationing as rigorous as during the war, marshalled the government's 5,000 automobile trucks and closed Hyde park, the wage earners' favorite place for protest meetings. The ground for food brought from all over the country from there it was distributed to wholesalers of London. The operation moved so smoothly that on the second day rationing was eased a little and within a week supplies were plentiful. On the sixth day three-fourths of London's normal supplies of 167,000 gallons of milk daily were being brought in and distributed.

After a few days Hyde park presented a scene somewhat like an army camp and eventually akin to a circus ground at a one-day grand Everything moved rapidly but there was little confusion. Long lines of trucks, driven by army-trained men at the direction in many instances, of army officers, deposited food at several centers or loaded it for distribution.

SALT BATHS CURING RUMANIAN SOLDIERS

BUCHAREST.—The famous salt baths of Salzburg, where the millions of Austria, Hungary and the Balkan states used to spend their summers are now curing rheumatic Rumanian soldiers.

Stripped of all their luxurious furnishings during the war, the Salzburg baths have just been refitted with the aid of the American Red Cross for use as a military hospital for chronic rheumatism resulting from trench warfare. Five hundred soldiers are already there, recovering from rheumatism and similar diseases contracted while undergoing the hardships of war.

In times of peace thousands of tourists visited Salzburg, high up in the Transylvanian Alps, southwest of Kremsd.

Many came for the dazzling social life. With its magnificent hotels and its casino it was perhaps the chief how place of eastern Europe. When the Germans pushed the Rumanians out of this district early in the war, General Mackensen and his staff took possession of the town and seized its luxurious revelry there. When the Germans left they looted the place, stripped the hotels of tapestries, furniture and brass fittings. Even the equipment for the medicinal baths was wrecked.

Under the direction of Maj. George C. Treadwell of Albany N. Y. and several American physicians, the baths were refitted sufficiently to care for the soldiers.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF TIMBERLAND IN U. S. IS ADVOCATED

Paper and Pulp Manufacturers Present Plan for Conserving Forests.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Public ownership of timberland, national or state—with private cutting and marketing—was advocated by the Paper and Pulp associations' committee on forest conservation in a report submitted to the association conference here Friday. Such ownership was said to be essential for the growing of the older and larger sizes of timber, its production being too long and hazardous an undertaking with two little earnings to attract private capital in adequate amounts.

In line with this opinion speedy adoption and execution of national and state forest policies, co-ordinated and co-operative, was urged. Forest survey and land classification as first steps were declared necessary. Public purchase of cut-over lands by the national and the state governments should be enlarged and extended to all parts of the country, the report said. It also advocated more vigorous extension of fire prevention cooperation between the nation and the states, state adoption of uniformly fair forest taxation laws, establishment of forest nurseries and the preparation of forest working plans.

A very large program of forest planting on denuded lands which show little promise of new natural crops was urged as a needed departure which has not been undertaken seriously in the United States.

In the northeastern states, the report asserted, additional measures were needed. It was recommended that means be afforded the timber land owner to have his property examined and classified, kinds of timber best adapted to them and treatment required to make the land produce. The state was urged to conduct reforestation work upon application, charging the cost against the growing crop. A definite policy was recommended for the management, operation and reforestation of state-owned land that would permit cutting the matured crop without destroying the reproductiveness of the property.

RECOMMENDS IT TO ANYONE.
"My son had a cough for a long time," writes Mrs. Heck, 723 Fifth Ave., Louisville, Ky., "and he tried Foley's Honey and Tar and he slept better that night than he had for some time. It certainly is fine. I recommend it to anyone." Good for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough. Children like it. Contains no opiates.

SMALL BLAZE.
The fire department received a call Saturday morning from 834 East Kibby street. The house, which was the home of Charles M. Smith, was reached before appreciable damage was done. The blaze was due to sparks from the chimney falling on a single roof.

RAILWAY BROTHERHOOD.
E. O. R. C. H. Lodge 955 All members are urged to be present at the meeting—Friday night important notice and good news for all. Punctual, no charge for members and their friends.

LITTLE TRAPPING RETURNS OF DRIVE IN NORTH EXPECTED ARE NOT COMPLETE

SEATTLE.—Because influenza nearly wiped out tribes of Eskimo and Indian trappers in there will be little trapping, it is said, Arctic regions of Alaska and Canada, in the far north for at least 10 years, say reports received here.

Furs from foxes raised in captivity on fox farms, will be on the market in numbers, however, as the number of fox farms being established in Alaska and Yukon territory is increasing yearly.

Fur buyers will probably find consolation in the announcement that the season may be reduced in price during the next 10 years. Year by year the United States government's herd of seals on the Pribilof Islands off Alaska is increasing and the United States bureau of fisheries, which has charge of the herd, hopes to see the prices drop as the number of seals increases.

EXECUTIVES WILL DISCUSS LIVING

Although no word has been received by Prosecutor Cable to that effect, it is understood the prosecuting attorneys and mayors of the state will be assembled in Columbus, Saturday, November 22, to discuss the high cost of living. Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer has announced he can be present at that time.

At this meeting every phase of the high cost of living is to be discussed, together with methods for reducing them. It is understood rent profiteering is to receive special attention.

Failed to Support Her, Avers Wife

Mrs. Francis Barnett filed an answer to the divorce petition of Elmer Barnett in common pleas court, Friday in which she claims Barnett refused to support her and their small son. The only money she ever had, she alleges, was what she received from him on an order from the court.

Will Not Clean Streets of Lima

The streets of Lima will not be cleaned the remainder of this year unless money for that purpose can be appropriated, according to a statement made by Clyde Zortman, superintendent of street cleaning. Zortman stated, the department is out of funds, and from now until the first of the coming year when more money will be appropriated, citizens will have to manage to get along with soiled thoroughfares.

REALTY.
Bride Plays Chauffeur
Margarita Fisher, dusky-eyed star of the "Flying A" forces, will be seen in a new and uproarious farce when she is presented at the Rialto theatre tomorrow, in "Charge It to Me," her latest American production. Written by L. V. Jefferson, the story hits a new mark in photoplay comedy, offering Miss Fisher in one of the most refreshing roles of her career.

Miss Fisher interprets the part of a young bride who sets out to earn some money in order that she may purchase a smoking-jacket as a surprise birthday gift. She assumes the role of a charming chauffeur and unwittingly attracts the various men who had been her passengers. Now, by attempting to carry out her plan in spite of the unpleasant complications that develop, she becomes involved with the police, forms the rousing climax of the story.

As "Winnie Davis" the embarrassed young bride, Margarita Fisher is at once effervescent and sympathetic, enhancing the side-splitting situations by the grave seriousness with which she invests her characterization. Emory Johnson, as the bridegroom, is Miss Fisher's leading man, and makes a most convincingly jealous and irate husband. Others in the cast include Augustus Phillips, Buddy Post, Montana, J. Farrell MacDonald and Sophie Todd. The production was directed by Roy Neill.

Eating With Sticks

Imagine trying to eat with two sticks held between the thumb and finger. The Chinese do this very nicely, though, and probably would find it very awkward to eat with knives and forks.

It is said that spectacles were used in China many hundreds of years ago, but they were very queer looking things compared to the modern, dressy eyeglasses we are showing.

And our methods of examining the eyes are thoroughly modern, too. It will be to your very decided advantage to call and see us if you are having trouble with your eyes.

Snipers

THE killing of four American soldier boys by I. W. W. snipers at Centralia, Wash., is tragic enough, but only presents in a vivid, concrete form the purpose of all I. W. W. and "Red" activities. The whole revolutionary movement as fostered by these advocates of violence is aimed at the overthrow of the American government of whose power and majesty the men in uniform are the symbol. If the sneaking slaughter of these four soldiers shall rouse the nation to a concerted and relentless effort to rid the United States of these agitators and to clamp the lid on every publication openly or covertly trying to bring the laws and the government into contempt, their martyrdom will not have been in vain.

Sugar

A LARGE institution in Chicago dealing in investment securities makes this significant statement in the course of its weekly letter to the speculation and investing public: "It is our understanding that the moment the peace proclamation is made, the various federal profiteering laws will immediately become inoperative and at that time it is felt sugar will generally advance to very high levels. The market for practically all sugar stocks has been very strong during the past month."

In other words, the sugar manipulators cannot even wait until the federal restrictions are actually lifted before inaugurating the policy of gouging. The present advances in sugar are merely anticipatory and decidedly mild compared to what will be effective after the government control is lifted.

We have heard a great deal of complaint during the past few years about the government's "interferences" with business. It is just such actions as that contemplated by the sugar manipulators which makes this interference, distasteful as it is to legitimate business, imperative for the protection of the public.

Grievances

JUST how we would manage to live without a grievance, it is not stated in the books. But since every man has a grievance, and every nation, they must be useful—and indispensable. You can not talk to a man five minutes without hearing a grievance; always there is something to complain about; always there is something wrong with somebody, to hear a friend or acquaintance tell it. The government itself is a chief grievance—the way things are run. No matter how well we are getting along as a city or a county or a state or a nation, almost any one will tell you that everything is not all right. We elect a man to office, and begin throwing bricks at him next day; or pass a law and declare within a week that it is silly or oppressive. If there isn't anything else in sight to complain at, you can find fault with the architecture of the buildings within sight of you.

But the wonder of it all is how well we get along despite our grievances. The city prospers; the nation goes forward—people are happy, if they would only think so. The seasons come and go, people are born and die, we live and love and have a being for a few brief days, and there is a lot of pleasure to be had by all. Our grievances are not as serious as they seem.

The Only Salvation

CLEMENCEAU, whose strong heart and sound sense played so large a part in redeeming the world from the menace of Kaiserism, speaks now some words of counsel to save the world from the pitfalls of peace. One sentence from his latest public utterance is worth spreading broadcast among all men:

"The world's only salvation from the social and economic chaos from which it is now emerging is work."

Work means relief from the temptations of idle masses. It means food and clothing to populations that are hungry and half-naked. It means obliteration of the stings of war's remembrance. It means a reunifying of nations and classes.

In the United States, as in Europe, the greatest present danger is reluctance to work—and anxiety to stop or limit production.

There is plenty of work for all men everywhere. The world is to be rebuilt. If civilization is to survive, we must work—and keep at it hard.

GOOD EVENING—What most people need to learn is that a vote has to be paid some time.

Congress is going to adjourn to give the members a chance to rest—from one another, we suppose.

Congress is making its biggest mistake in not investigating some of the investigators.

We wonder why Canton ever elected a Poorman for Mayor.

HAPPY THOUGHT: Most things look better when they are dressed up a bit, except the plain truth.

Short Stories of the Buckeye State

ZANE'S TRACE AND OHIO IMMIGRATION

The Zane trace was not a good road, but as its name indicates, a mere blazed trail made by the use of axes on trees; but it was eagerly seized upon as a help by the would-be settlers in the Ohio country, and it had a decided effect upon the settlement of the section of the state through which it ran.

An instance of this is seen in the character of the settlement of Fairfield county. The trail crossed the Hocking river near the site of the present city of Lancaster. It was cut through in the year of 1798. Immediately there came a tide of immigration along it from both directions. For some reason Kentucky had proved an earlier and greater attraction as a place for settlement than Ohio, and there was already a considerable white population along the southern shores of the Ohio river. Back along this Trace this population began to surge into the Ohio country, then found to be better.

Of the trace there came a noted Kentuckian—Captain Joseph Hunter, looking for a place for settlement, being dissatisfied with his location near Maysville, Ky., and he found what he was looking for near the crossing of the Hocking river. Back he went to his old Kentucky home and brought his wife, who was also the first white woman to settle in Fairfield county, and established the first settlement there.

Hunter lived for 30 years thereafter, dying in 1829, and so fast did immigration set in in both directions along the trace, that before he died what is now Fairfield county, was pretty well settled. Its effect is seen in the character of the people of that county today. From one direction came the Virginians, and from the other people from Pennsylvania and New England, so that the two elements are quite evenly represented in the present population of the county composed as it is largely from these two original streams of immigration.

Adventures of a Married Flirt

LXXXI—A Novel Experiment

I flung down my pen with an exclamation of relief. "There, that's done," "Read it," I tossed the sheets into Fan's lap as she sat dreaming by the small open fire the maid had lighted against the evening chill. "Does it sound all right?" I queried anxiously. "You don't mean you actually want me to read what you have written your husband?" cried Fan. "Of course. There's nothing personal in it." Fan gave a little shriek of mirth. "Nell, you queer creature! What do you think a husband is? Has he nothing to differentiate him from other men, except a legal ceremony which you have undergone together?" "I don't know, I never really stopped to consider," I returned carelessly. "I'm too busy living to waste time in thought. I'll hold converse with myself while I'm waiting somewhere in the ether to be born again."

Fan shrugged aside my flippancy and picked up my letter to Paul. "My own dearest," she began in a mocking voice. "Fan and I are spending a lonely afternoon with the vote of the sea to remind us that life is relentless and eternal and we are only futile atoms whose little joys and heartaches count for nothing in the final summing-up."

"Cheerful sort of letter for a man who is off to war!" commented Fan. "I can't help it. It is my mood and it creeps into my letter," I protested. "At least it's novel. Only fancy the contrast to the letters of most wives: 'Dear John—The baby has two new teeth. She cried frightfully. I wish you were here to look after her.'"

"Please finish that letter of mine, so that one lone sentence won't sound so pompous and absurd," I begged, "then we'll run and dress for dinner with the fascinating Major."

Fan read on obediently. "It is this sense of fatality that keeps me buoyed up in the face of our first long separation. Distance will give us both a new perspective; I will be able to visualize you again as a lover and not as a husband, which my nature makes me resent. "Paul dear, I have not been a dutiful wife; believe that I realize it and am penitent. I have done so much that I shouldn't have done, and left undone so much that you had every right to expect of me. "Perhaps under this separation, I shall find myself. I shall come to a realization of what life means to me, what you mean to me. It is good for a woman who has never lacked protection and indulgence, to find herself face to face with a literal world. "There must be some personal interpretation to this war for you and me. You cannot have gone away to risk your life for a material reason alone. I believe that good must come out of everything and nothing worth while is born without travail."

Fan tossed the letter aside. "Nell how can you write like that? You know you don't mean one word of it."

"No, I don't," I confessed, "but it sounds good, and some day I may mean it."

"You may, but it's scarcely likely. Like many other women—all some men—when you place a pen in your fingers it runs away with you. I only hope you exercise more discretion when you write to your admirers."

"But seriously, Fan, isn't it a bit nicer to write soulful stuff to your husband than the rapid information that the cooks has left and your latest frock doesn't fit. Men carefully preserve the letters of their sweethearts, but they throw away communications from their wives. And I believe it is because sweethearts express something that appeals to an exalted mood, while wives' letters are invariably filled with daily calamities."

"You may be right," agreed Fan. "Why not experiment on your husband?"

"I will," I sprang up and pressed the button for the maid, "post this at once, please," I told the girl, "it is very important."

Important Topic To Be Discussed

The next regular meeting and dinner of the Lima Merchants Association will be held Tuesday evening November 18th at the Lima Club, at 6:30 o'clock. The session this time will be for business only and so programs have been arranged. The entertainment committee has requested of all of the members that they bring no guests to this meeting so members may discuss two topics of vital importance to all of the merchants. Badges will be distributed at the meeting.

A detachment of Lima's preserves of law and order went forth Saturday to take advantage of the first day of the open season for rabbits. These hunters of men displayed no uneasiness as to the outcome of their efforts when diverted to the nimble and elusive cottontail, and have made arrangements in advance for a feast at the police station. The party, headed by Chief of Police Roush, includes Judge Ernest Botkin, Sgts. Frank Eberle and Morton F. CHARMING DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Linneman charmingly entertained a few of their most intimate friends at a dinner at the Hotel Norval, Friday evening. The affair was in the nature of a farewell, as Mr. and Mrs. Linneman expect to leave the first of the week for California for an extended visit. Vases and bowls of fall flowers in attractive colors added a harmonious color note to the table.

SHAWNEE GOLF CLUB

The members of the Shawnee Ladies Golf Club enjoyed their last meeting of the season as well as annual business session, on Thursday afternoon when a 1 o'clock luncheon was held at the Hotel Norval. The table was prettily decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. E. M. Gooding was elected president for the ensuing year and Mrs. E. T. Mitchell, secretary. Mrs. Dwight Barry and Mrs. Frank Baxter were appointed members of the entertainment committee. The members also plan to join the Ladies Western Golf Association. The initial meeting of the coming season will be held the first Thursday in April.

Those present were: Mrs. Russell Young, Mrs. Ben Thomas, Mrs. B. M. Moulton, Miss Gertrude Finley, Mrs. John Boone, Mrs. Thomas McLoughlin, Mrs. Frank Baxter, Mrs. Dwight Barry, Mrs. E. T. Mitchell, Mrs. H. H. Starrett, Mrs. W. D. Woodward, Mrs. N. D. Keys, Mrs. F. T. Cuthbert, Mrs. Seals, Mrs. Chalmers Brown, Mrs. Cachumate, Mrs. Kent Hughes, Mrs. J. C. Linneman, Mrs. E. M. Gooding and Mrs. J. E. Linneman.

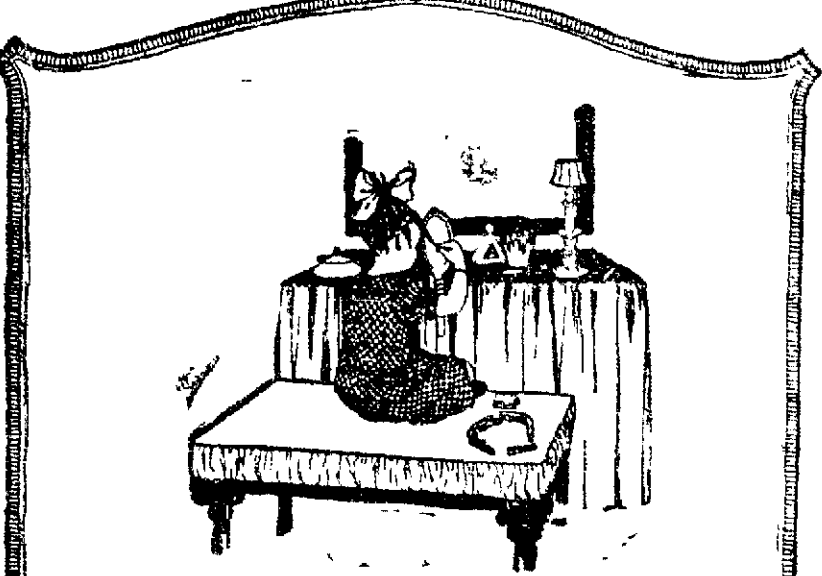

The many friends of Miss Madeline Mullen, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mullen South West street will be glad to learn she is recovering from a several weeks illness of diphtheria and scarlet fever. Miss Mullen is a junior at St. Rose high school.

BREAKS A COLD IN A FEW HOURS

"Pape's Cold Compound" then breaks up a cold in a few hours

Relief comes instantly. A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken usually breaks up a severe cold and ends all the gripe misery. The very first dose opens your clogged up nostrils and the air passages in the head, stops nose running, removes the headache, dizziness, feverishness, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Clear your congested head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only a few cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, contains no quinine—insist upon Pape's!

White and Mrs. J. E. Dexter. The social hour will be in charge of the seventh division with Mrs. Oliver Steiner as chairman. All women of the congregation are cordially invited to attend.

One of the most successful meetings of the Merry Circle King's Daughters was held at the home of Mrs. C. C. Mosher, 101 West Market street. There were one hundred and fifty people present. The decorations were pink and white chrysanthemums.

Luncheon was played throughout the afternoon with Mrs. A. B. Gray and Mrs. Frank Mitchell winning the prizes of potted chrysanthemums.

In the evening all the members with their husbands were invited to stay at the Mosher home. This was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kalb who are leaving Lima soon. Cards were played during the evening with Dr. O. Steiner winning the prize. A musical program was given by Mr. Baird and Dr. Baird and Mrs. Baird. A program in behalf of the club presented Mrs. Kalb with a present. In the latter part of the evening dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

The club wish to thank the following to whom they are indebted: M. S. S. Co. R. L. Graham White Mountain Creamery and E. N. Zelitz.

The Immaculate Conception Sodality of St. Rose parish will hold an informal party Tuesday evening, Nov. 10th at 8 o'clock at the Rose auditorium, for the pleasure of the members. Cards will be sent to all members.

Mrs. Frank Smith of east Kirby street entertained the Teakwood Euchre club. Mrs. E. A. Shindollar held high score and Mrs. A. H. Tebban was solo. The guests at the meeting were Mrs. J. K. Bristle, Mrs. J. B. Goodrich, and Mrs. James Coffee. The club members present were Mrs. E. A. Shindollar, Mrs. A. H. Tebban, Mrs. Joe Lemkuhl, Mrs. James Daily, Mrs. M. Burke, Mrs. M. Myers, Mrs. O. A. Burgin, Mrs. Frank Gardner and Mrs. Charles Schneider. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Shindollar of Grand avenue.

The Home Arts club had an all day meeting with Mrs. Oliver Farnest. It was a surprise on Mrs. Farnest. In the afternoon they had a business meeting the roll call was answered with ghost stories. The members made a comfort for a poor family they are interested in. The guests were Mrs. J. A. McArthur and Mrs. Stewart Farnest. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Ed. Heiser of north Washington.

Hoover, Mrs. Vernon Fisher, Estelle, Mrs. T. J. Edwards, Mrs. F. H. Hawisher, Mrs. Henry Seabers, Mrs. D. F. O'Connor, Mrs. Ralph Burnbaugh, and Miss Aileen Hoover.

Mrs. John Cairnes of State street was hostess to a few of the very intimate friends of Miss Leah Hay who eloped at a 1 o'clock luncheon Saturday afternoon at the Lima club. The guests were all members of a club society and have been intimate friends for a number of years. Yellow chrysanthemums adorned the table and places were marked for Miss Hay, Miss Ruth Parmenter, Mrs. Fred Curtis, Mrs. Harriet, Mrs. Alfred Wenner, Miss Evelyn Davidson and Mrs. Cairnes. A number of very attractive gifts have been given in the past few weeks for Miss Hay, who the latter part of this month will become the bride of Jack Ramsey of Pittsburgh.

The Round Table will meet Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. J. P. Boutet. This will be the commencement of the parliamentary drill. All members are urged to be present.

At ten o'clock this morning a most beautiful wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Spyster, West Elm street, when their daughter became the bride of Mr. Allen Abrams. Mr. Abrams is the chief chemist of the Indianapolis Bleaching Company. He is a graduate of the Washington and Jefferson College and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Miss Spyster is a most popular member of the younger society. She is a graduate of the Ohio Wesleyan College. The home was beautifully decorated with yellow and white flowers. After the ceremony which was officiated by the Reverend John Connell of Minneapolis there was a most elaborate four course breakfast. The table was decorated with yellow and white candles, flowers and place cards.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Abrams, Mr. Deissen, Mr. Robert Burnes, Miss Mary Stolzenbach, Miss Katherine Galvin, Miss Elizabeth Newson, Mrs. Marjorie Kidd and Miss Esther Quayle of Chicago.

The bride and groom left immediately after the breakfast for Chicago and from there they will go to Indianapolis where they will make their home.

On Monday evening the Twentieth Century Club will meet with Miss Mable Mackenzie. Instead of the regular program Miss Alice Hill will talk of her work of the United States Children's Bureau and Mrs. McCab will talk of her experiences in the War Emergency Work in connection with the Y. W. C. A.

The Sorosis Club will meet Monday afternoon with Mrs. Roy Edmonds of 431 South Jameson street.

The Floral Guild will meet with Mrs. Clarence Atmure Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Beauchamp attended the funeral of the doctor's uncle Dr. Wilson at Piqua.

The Ladies Aid society of the Trinity M. E. church will have an all day meeting at the church Tuesday. They will serve the workers of the Y. W. C. A. with a six o'clock dinner.

Wednesday afternoon the Missionary Society of the Olivet church will meet with Mrs. Otis Harter.

The eighteenth district of the Rebecca Lodge will hold a convention Tuesday at Celina, Ohio. Cars will leave here at 6 and 9.

Mrs. Charles Oliver entertained the Ideal Club Friday afternoon. The home was beautifully decorated with cut flowers.

Mrs. Violet Councilman was the only guest Mrs. Charles Oliver and Mrs. Walter Scott delighted the members with a piano duet. Refreshments were served and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Walter Scott.

The next meeting will be held a week from next Wednesday with Mrs. A. D. Sutton of 918 West High street.

Mrs. O. S. White, of Piqua is spending the week with her daughter Mrs. W. W. Beauchamp of north Metcalfe street. Mrs. White has many friends in Lima as she has frequently visited her daughter here.

Betty Fairfax's Ready Advice

Chats With the Love-Lorn Answers to Missives

Dear Miss Fairfax: Can first cousins be married in the state of New York? Isn't there another state where they can be married?

Brown Eyes

Ans—I will answer your question backwards and give you the names of the states where marriage between first cousins is forbidden: Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Washington, and Wyoming. In other states first cousins may be married. I did not answer your question about a Hal-lown party, because one party has already been described and I warned you at that time that there would be no more suggestions concerning parties on that day.

Dear Miss Fairfax: I read a letter not long ago in your columns, in which a girl asked

Be Prepared For Influenza

CUT THIS OUT

Many medical men say we will probably have another epidemic this fall. Let us all hope and pray we will not.

But at the same time let us be well prepared. The flu as it is called, usually starts with a cold and tightness in the chest.

If you even suspect there is a chance that you may be getting influenza take a good dose of laxative tea, such as Dr. Carter's K & B Tea or Celery King and send for your physician. While you are waiting for the doctor rub Bogy's Mustard on throat and chest.

Rub it on freely and never mind if it does feel good and hot, it cannot blister even the tenderest skin. But don't stop at throat and chest, get some one to rub this enemy of inflammation over your entire back and especially between the shoulder blades.

THE MARRIED AVERAGE MAN

When I was in London, Eric Sands and not the worst, imaginings come and I went to the National Gallery. I shall never forget a picture I saw there. It was called "Icarus." I didn't know at the time who Icarus was but according to the painting he was an intrepid, if misguided youth who tried to make himself wings and fly. He fell to earth, of course, and so poignantly had the artist depicted his failure and death, that I could not shake off the gloom it threw into my soul. I remember now Eric Sands tried to cheer me, taking me to a jolly little—but here! I did not intend reminiscing.

What I started to set down in this book was that my attempt to fly has failed. Yet not altogether, like Icarus's. For while the editor of "The Messenger" has quite definitely turned down my stories, he has not turned me down.

This sounds immoral, but I must not be squeamish with my dairy. It is not immoral; it is only human, which in turn means that he had a job to give out and gave it to me because I was an attractive woman.

The world would be Elysium and the Millennium would be at hand if men decided everything with their heads instead of with their senses.

Men have always been swayed by woman's appeal to their imagination and they always will be. It is woman's part to see that the best.

THE MARRIED AVERAGE MAN

I might have said to Mr. Randy Lynch, editor of "The Messenger," "Now, in accepting this job, my dear Mr. Lynch I contract for nothing but the work my salary covers. As you know, I have a husband. I am not going to flirt with you. I am simply going to do my daily stunt as well as I can, be pleasant and smiling whenever I am in the office and attend to my home, by husband and my own affairs when I have finished my business with you."

Making a speech like that would have been very virtuous, no doubt, but it would have been a gratuitous insult on my part, and good cause for resentment on his.

The exertion of sex charm is, I think, quite taken for granted. Men do it no less than women. Note the good-looking chaps who come to collect pills or solicit orders. Note the debonaire dancing instructors. Note the successful lawyers and physicians—I have never seen a woman's doctor who was not attractive and did not make big capital of his pleasing ways.

And so, being just an ordinary woman who wants work, wants to please and wants to live a full life, I used my personality as an asset, put forth my best efforts to charm, and landed Mr. Randy Lynch's job.

This job consists of answer scores of letters from subscribers to "The Messenger," asking everything from how to pin on a baby's most intimate underwear to the most delicate way of declining an invitation to dine.

I think it is going to be fun. I can do my work at home, and it pays a fair wage. I may not be an airplane, but I am better than a turtle.

By the way, Jim has refused to go to Athens Hast's masked ball.

Query, How far should a wife set aside her own wishes to please her husband?

Next Week's Theatre Offerings

THE ORPHEUM BILL

"Zarrow's Big Revue," radiant musical comedy success, with a company of 30 splendid artists, mostly beautiful girls, closes its engagement at the Orpheum theatre with the matinee tomorrow afternoon and the two shows tomorrow night after having established through Friday night the attendance record of this season at the Market street playhouse. On the same program with the Revue, as an extra added attraction, there will be shown tomorrow a five reel feature motion picture—a mystery-romance of crooks and cash, "The House of Intrigue."

"Zarrow's Big Revue" is a three-dollar full-size comic opera at a bargain price and it boasts more feminine plucbitude to the square inch than any regulation beauty show.

The chorus of the Revue is by far the greatest aggregation of feminine beauty ever brought to a theatre in Lima. There are tall girls, small girls, plump girls and slender ones—brunettes, blondes, Titian haired beauties.

man in Charles Ray. He may be a—and every one of not only dancing gracefully and wears her stunning gowns to splendid advantage, but each is a songster with a real voice.

Prices which have been in effect this week and which will continue through Sunday will be reduced beginning at the Monday matinee. After the second show Sunday night, matinee prices will be from 10 to 20 cents and evening prices will be 15, 20, 30 and 40 cents.

never had a more delightful role than in his latest Paramount-Ince picture, "Bill Henry," coming to the Faurot next Sunday and Monday, in which he appears as a salesman whose specialty is an electric vibrator. Then enters the girl into his life, and also a dishonest real estate agent who later has occasion to rue the day he was born when he seeks to hoodwink "Bill Henry." What a remarkable poker game, a corking fistie battle and at cetera, it is a certainty that "Bill Henry" will be heartily relished by the motion picture public.

Other attractive features of Sunday's program include the Pathe News and a new Paramount-Briggs comedy,

Shirley Mason

"The Final Close-Up" is the final title they have given Shirley Mason's latest Paramount picture, which comes to the Faurot next Thursday and Friday.

It's a fine title because of the appeal of the final close-up in the movie; but "The Final Close-Up" doesn't wait for the final close-up for its punch. It starts off like a bear and winds up like a bear-hug!

Added features of this program will include the popular "Topics of the Day" and a Post Nature Picture of superb quality. It is entitled "The Voice of Gladness," a pictorial meetings of one of Bryant's poems.

tion to save her young husband from death for a murder he did not commit, but of which he was tortured to confess.

Tom Terriss has given the picture a splendid direction, and in the capable supporting cast are: Gladys James, Anders Randolf, Miss Hedda Hopper, Herbert Evans, George Backus, J. T. Wade, L. Rogers, Lytton and Edward McGuire.

Extra Attraction! In addition to this big photoplay the Lyric will present on Sunday and Monday, The Brownie Concert company one of the highest class musical organization on the road.

Scene from the Big Motion Picture, "The Wanderer," which entranced a huge audience at the Faurot last night and will be given its final presentation here tonight.

at the attraction at the Orpheum theatre at the matinee Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Two bills of superlative merit, each consisting of five acts which it is declared will set a new high standard of amusement excellence combine to make two notable programs for the coming week.

THE FAUROT'S PICTURES

Charles Ray

Every man, woman or child who loves manliness in men, has his ideal country bumpkin, a boob, a student or human what not in his pictures, but but at some time or other, in the development of the story of which he is the central figure, he rises to the occasion, and how things do hum! In all of his starring vehicles, Mr. Ray proves to be just the creature the average human being admires—a gritty, self-reliant, persistent, bellicose young chap who fights his way to victory, his bonhomie even when things go against him, and his modesty in the hour of his heroic triumphs. Mr. Ray

"A Rainy Day" in which "Skin-nay" and his companions of "The Days of Real Sport" will make fun for you.

Ethel Clayton

Ethel Clayton's new Paramount picture, "A Sporting Chance," which will be shown at the Faurot next Tuesday and Wednesday was founded on "Impulse," a story written by Roger Hartman, which appeared in a recent issue of the Snappy Stories Magazine.

Carey Brent, the part played by Miss Clayton, is an impulsive girl who gets a "hunch" and acts upon it without reflection. So when she employs as her chauffeur a man she believes to be an escaped convict, in order that she may reform him, she opens the door to thrilling and unexpected adventures.

The supporting cast, headed by Jack Holt, a sterling player, is a strong one and includes Herbert Standing, Margaret Green and Howard Davies. To this clever comedy drama is added the Pathe News and the new Paramount Magazine, containing a variety of subjects that will amuse and instruct.

to remain married; and her sister's association with the ugly, awkward school teacher leads her to refuse his offer of divorce.

The complications of the story give Will Rogers chances to prove himself a real hero in the eyes of the villagers, and finally to win the love of his wife, Peggy Wood. Cullen Landis and Clara Horton play the most important supporting roles with finesse and sympathy.

AT THE LYRIC.

The human appeal and tremendous dramatic power of "The Third Degree," which made it one of the greatest stage successes of its day, are splendidly maintained in Vitaphone's screen version of the Charles Klein drama which will be seen in the Lyric theater on Sunday.

Alice Joyce has the stellar role of Annie Sands, and the beautiful and talented star never appeared to better advantage. Her role is that of the waitress bride of a college youth, who craves the power of her millionaire father-in-law, sworn to destroy her, and of an all-powerful police inquisi-

MOOSE WILL PLACE THE CORNERSTONE OF THEIR NEW HOME

Impressive Ceremonies Will Be Held Tomorrow Afternoon.

MANY WILL BE HERE
Legion Fall Frolic Will Be Held In Memorial Hall.

Several thousand visiting members together with the 2,000 members of the local lodge will participate in ceremonies to be held Sunday afternoon, November 16, in connection with the formal dedication and laying of the cornerstone of the new Moose Club, North and West streets.

The cornerstone ceremonies will be preceded by a monster parade and celebration to be staged at 1:30 o'clock. Visiting delegations of Moose lodges within a radius of 100 miles, together with the number of state officials will be in attendance. Many of the delegations coming to Lima on special cars. Both local and visiting members will meet at the Moose hall, Main and Spring streets at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to form in line for the parade.

Line of March. The line of march will be as follows: North from Moose hall on down to Wayne; west to Pierce; east to North; and thence to the new Moose temple. The cornerstone ceremonies will commence promptly at 1 o'clock, and they will be very impressive.

The speakers for the day will be Hon. Judge C. L. Burnett, of Pittsburgh; Hon. Ralph D. Cole, world war veteran and former member of congress, Findlay, and Rev. S. J. Walcott, of Middletown, noted Welsh orator. Following the cornerstone ceremonies a Legion Fall Frolic will be staged at Memorial hall, while the Port Wayne Legion dance team will be present to exemplify the work.

Legionnaire Degree. W. P. Anderson, president of the Lima Moose Club, which now has one of the largest memberships in northwestern Ohio, and Harry T. Walter is secretary. It is hoped that James Davis, supreme organizer of the Moose order can be present for the ceremonies, and for the exemplification of the Legionnaire degree, which follows the ceremonies at the new club.

Senior Class Takes Field Day Honors

Senior Class took the honors at the annual field day exercises of Central high school held Friday afternoon at College Field. Students took part in the parade which preceded the annual event. Card reading, contests, races, tug of war and other sports were indulged in.

Prof. Pogue Will Tell Experiences

Prof. J. W. Pogue, principal of south high school, who spent many months with the American Expedition Forces in the service of the Y. M. C. A., will tell of his experiences at the local Y. M. C. A., Sunday, November 16, at 2:30 o'clock.

Prof. Pogue was one of 8,000 Y. M. C. A. workers in France. He cannot tell the whole story of what was done in all parts of France, Italy, England and other countries, where the "Y" worked, but he will tell of what came within his personal observation.

PRICE OF EGGS ON INCREASE IN LIMA
May Go To $1.20 Per Dozen One Local Grocer Stated.

The hen that laid the golden egg certainly hasn't a wonderful lot on her modern sister, for that fowl lays an egg which, according to local dealers may advance to 10 cents each. "Hens' fruit" in Lima is at present being sold at 73 cents per dozen, and today, the manager of one of the largest grocers in the city, stated, it is his belief eggs will go to $1.20 before the first of the coming year.

He said: "Truth is, nobody knows how high eggs will go. It's merely a question of how much people are willing to pay for food which is hardly obtainable." It is nearly impossible to purchase eggs from farmers, as all declare the hens are not laying to any great extent. And in the majority of instances the farmer wants the same price as the merchant is receiving, notwithstanding the fact that he does not get the retail market price when he brings them to town.

Sugar Situation Same. The sugar situation in Lima remains about the same, a grocer said today. There is at present, he stated, no indication to the effect that the city is liable to be without sweetening in the very near future, but the purchases are limited. The majority of stores are allowing two pounds per customer, while others allow only one pound. Several stores in Lima are selling sugar only to regular customers.

Dame Rumor, who often is quite untrue, informs us there arrived in Lima this past week 51 tons of sugar. However, all efforts to locate this sweetening have proved futile.

Three Persons are Sought by Chapter

Communications have been received from the war risk department by the Home Service division of the Red Cross here, asking their aid in helping locate three persons, who last address were given as Lima, Ohio. The first of these is a discharged soldier William Erskin, formerly living at 133 East Wayne street, July 30, 1919, and relatives are anxious to get in touch with him. The second is Mrs. Ruth McGee Morgan, who formerly resided at 618 West High street, but whose whereabouts are not now known. A check is being sent for her. The third is Grace Settemore, of R. F. No. 2, who also has an unclaimed check waiting.

Any of the above, or friends communicate with the Home Service, College building, they will be put in touch with the war risk bureau.

Attended Brother's Funeral in Columbus

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shanahan, west Grand Avenue has returned from Columbus where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Shanahan's brother Patrick Shanahan, well known contractor of that city whose death occurred Wednesday. Mr. Shanahan had been a resident of Columbus for the past 30 years and was a member of the Elks Club, the Builders Exchange and the Hound Club. Besides the widow, a son and daughter, two brothers and a sister survive.

Requiem mass was celebrated Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock at St. Francis Catholic church, and interment was made in St. Joseph's cemetery. The deceased was also a brother of the late John W. Shanahan, of Lima.

WOMEN'S CLUB TO START INTENSIVE DRIVE HERE SOON

Chairmen of the budget campaign for the Lima Y. W. C. A. report that they will begin a three days intensive campaign next Tuesday November 18, which will close on November 22. The organization is headed by Mrs. F. C. Borges, chairman of the Finance committee. Miss Martha E. Sparks, of the national board of the Y. W. C. A., New York is director of the campaign, and Miss Sara R. Carter of the same organization, is in charge of the subscription lists and general details.

A meeting of team captains and workers was held this afternoon at the campaign headquarters, at which time details of the campaign and the work was outlined to the solicitors. The members of the advisory committee include: B. F. Thomas, George Bayly, R. J. Plate, W. C. Bradley, F. C. Becker and the Publicity committee: Miss Florence Dorsey, Mrs. John W. Roby, Dr. Josephine Pierce, Miss Flora Mercer, Miss Hazel Wright, Mrs. H. A. Tilton, Hostess committee, Mrs. Fred Becker, Mrs. W. H. Clarke, Mrs. W. C. Bradley, Mrs. R. T. Grock, Mrs. L. C. Larson; List committee, Mrs. George Dengler and Mrs. Harry Taylor.

A number of high school girls and young women interested in the campaign, have already given valuable assistance in the preparation of the subscription lists, and great enthusiasm is being met on every hand, so it is believed the campaign will prove very successful.

HOLLENBACHER IS SEEKING NEW TRIAL

Carl Hollenbacher, convicted Thursday of murder of his divorced wife filed a motion Saturday for new trial. It is asked that the verdict of the jury be set aside on the grounds, among other things, that the verdict is against the weight of the evidence and contrary to law. Improper statements made by the counsel for the state in the presence of the jury and in argument to the jury are also made a basis for requesting new trial.

Fire Damages K. of C. Building

A fire the origin of which the Fire Chief was unable to determine Friday night caused an estimated loss of $100 in the K. of C. building. The fire was confined to a small section between the ceiling of the first story and the floor of the second story. In addition to the damage done, the building is estimated $1,000 worth of cement in the building was destroyed, by the water used in extinguishing the fire. The cement was to have been used in the completion of the building and was stored in paper sacks near the spot where the fire broke out.

Says Wife Became High Tempered

Alleging that she became quarrelsome and high tempered within six months after their marriage making it impossible for them to live together harmoniously, and that she frequently beat him for periods of five or six weeks at a time, Perry A. Walters filed a petition in common pleas court, Saturday, asking that he be divorced from Estella Walters. One of these periodical desertions, he alleges, she returned to their home while he was away and sold the furniture.

The couple were married October 16, 1909, he states, and one child was born, Josiah H., age 7.

Engineers Testing New Water Pumps

Special engineers are in Lima today making tests of the new pumps to be used for the purpose of pumping water from the reservoir across the county infirmity to the new Lost Creek reservoir, and according to reports of the water works the pumps are coming up to expectations. However, they state, it is taking a little more power than anticipated to run the pumps, and the engineers are now endeavoring to overcome this difficulty.

As soon as this can be corrected the pumps will be turned over to the city, and the filling of the new reservoir will commence, it is said.

Wanted Marriage License; Almost Got Other Kind

Friday, the day before the opening of the rabbit hunting season was the banner day for issuing hunting licenses in the history of the county clerk's office here. 328 licenses were issued, this being 122 higher than any previous day. This made over nine hundred for this week, and it is thought, Saturday will bring the total to over a thousand.

Issuing 328 licenses in one day required the entire time of two clerks and quite a speed was acquired in grinding them out before time to close up shop in the evening. It is little wonder that when the rush was at its height, the color of a blushing young woman's eyes and hair, his weight and other necessary information was obtained before it dawned upon him that he was not being measured for a marriage license, as he intended. In spite of the long waiting line time was taken to conduct the young man and his prospective bride to the proper office, after he was told of his mistake.

LADIES ENTERTAINED BY MINSTER CLUB

About 30 prominent citizens of Minster, Ohio, all members of the Commercial Club of that town, and their wives were guests at a dinner party held Friday evening at the Lima Club. The affair was arranged as a courtesy to the wives of the members, and also in commemoration of the 10th anniversary of the club's organization.

The Commercial Club of Minster, which has aims and purposes similar to the Chamber of Commerce in the larger cities, has been instrumental in ensuring the town greatly in the past decade. Among some of the work they have sponsored is the paving of three miles of city streets; obtaining a large cigar box factory for the town; also the Cummings Machine Works; the organization of the Minster Home Builders company; obtaining a branch of the Densel-Wemmer cigar factory; and the building of the first Opera house in the town, known as the Crescent.

Eugene Lippincott was the principal speaker of the evening, and he outlined the work of the Commercial Club since the organization. Mayor Joseph Schmiedel presided at the dinner, and Dr. C. L. Dine, of Minster gave a "Goodfellowship" talk. Following the dinner the members and their wives were guests at the play, "The Wanderer," at the Opera house. The trip to Lima and return was made in a special interurban car.

The members in attendance at the dinner were: J. W. Biting, A. L. Herkenhoff, C. F. Herkenhoff, Fred Goerke, Dr. C. L. Dine, Mayor Joseph Schmiedel, J. T. Haverbeck, Frank Dine, Douglas McLaughlin, Charles Hockman, A. B. Luckman, T. E. Rager, W. A. Havemann, H. J. Hagedorn, August Schunck, Karl H. Sherman, Herbert Rulman, L. G. Fischer, J. F. LIMA SEES GREAT STAGE SPECTACLE

"The Wanderer" Proves to be Acme of Stage Interpretation.

Lima theater-goers enjoyed a treat Friday evening in witnessing "The Wanderer," the wonderfully staged and beautifully acted biblical spectacle that crowded one of the largest theaters in New York for months. It is seldom that so cities the size of Lima are sent to witness a production and the wealth of scenery, the large cast and the lighting effects mark the Comstock & Gest offering as a most unusual one.

Perhaps in no one of his plays has David Belasco shown his master hand at producing more thoroughly than he has in "The Wanderer." "The master genius of the American stage has taken the story of the "Prodigal Son" and drawn from it a wonderfully interesting play, giving a stage setting of oriental splendor and has contrasted scenes so sharply that he has driven home the lesson he seeks to impress his audiences with. There has been but one Belasco and likely will never be another, and those Lima people who miss seeing "The Wanderer" have left something out of their lives.

A Biblical Story

The play depicts effectively and vividly the ventures of a clean-hearted boy of the hills into the sinful "city of Jerusalem," his rise to fame, while his riches lasted, his downfall after he had squandered his portion, and his return in rags to his father's house, where, through lonely, empty days, the love of his good mother had lived on and remained to cure him of the hurts inflicted on him by the wicked world.

The play opens showing the counselor home near Hebron, not far from Jerusalem. It is the home of Jesse, a man of means and a patriarch, another woman grinds corn in a mill, a fig tree and clinging vines on the arbor, make the scene one of gorgeous beauty. Then the shepherds come with their flocks from the hills in the distance, and cross the stage to their pens where they are sheltered for the night away from the hungry wolves. The second act shows the passage of Nadina, where Jether, the prodigal son, has plunged into the maelstrom of the wicked delights of Babylon with Tisha, his sweetheart. An appeal that never grows worn out is that of the mother love. In scenes that were undeniably effective at the parting when the son leaves home and when his mother takes him back, after his wanderings and riotous living—there were tears a plenty and an audible rustle of handkerchiefs.

In true Belasco fashion the last scene takes you back to the peaceful home, contrasting so sharply with the oriental splendor of the gorgeous second act that it alone would hold the tense attention of the audience.

Company is Superb

The company seen here is a strong one. Robert Frazer as "Jether," plays the really dual role in an artistic manner. Florence Auer as Huldah, the mother, does a wonderful piece of dramatic work in the final act, and rises to all the big scenes. Richard Thornton is particularly good, appearing as the brother, again as Pharis, the sailor, and finally as the brother once more, a difficult feat that he handles with rare skill. Louise Orth, as Tisha, the seductress, is decidedly clever. The writer also appreciated Henry Duggan's work as the father because he did not overdo it and has the rare faculty of interpreting a father's love for his favorite son and reflecting in his face the love light—something that few stage fathers we have seen have been able to do. The cast is so unusually capable that it is worthy of note.

Again Tonight "The Wanderer" is pleasing a large audience this afternoon and plays its final engagement at the Faurot this evening. The appearance of this big production in Lima marks an epoch in Lima theater circles—if big companies can obtain sufficient patronage we will get them, otherwise not, and that is one reason we would like to see the worth-while, heavy plays of this type given a hearty reception at the boxoffice. They deserve it so much more than the light, frothy musicals. Here is a lesson taught by a master of dramatic art, staged wonderfully and without thought of expense and acted by a company that is superb.

LONG TRUCK TRAINS
FEATURED AT FAIRS
INTEREST FARMERS

Since farmers go to fairs, the managers look about each year for new features that will appeal to farmers. This year there was hardly a fair, state or county, that did not have a good motor truck exhibit, and a big feature for the farmers at many of the largest fairs was the inauguration of ship-by-truck parades and demonstrations.

The Missouri state fair, at Sedalia, led off with the parade method of demonstrating the practicability of the motor truck in the farm-to-city freight hauling field. It was a big parade made up of two truck trains, one of which came to the fair overland from St. Louis and the other from Kansas City. Ship-by-truck was featured in the same manner at the Kansas Free Fair, the big annual event at Topeka. Then 1,358 motor trucks made up a parade at the Minnesota state fair at Minneapolis, and miles of trucks were in ship-by-truck parades at the Texas state fair, in Dallas, at the Washington state fair, at Yakima, at the Oklahoma state fair, at Oklahoma City, at the Wisconsin state fair in Milwaukee, at the Iowa state fair at Des Moines, at the Allen county fair, in Pennsylvania, at the Verillion county fair, in Illinois; and at the annual implement show, at Peoria.

That manufacturers and merchants in the cities are just as much interested in the motor truck and its future as the farmer is well illustrated by the attention they have given ship-by-truck demonstrations held recently in the cities. Brooklyn put on a ship-by-truck demonstration and parade on October 13 which was the largest event of its kind ever staged. Thousands of trucks, bearing many and various signs and devices to catch the eye and attract attention to the newest opportunities of the motor truck, were in the parade. Other large parades were enthusiastically received in St. Louis, Los Angeles, Albany, Seattle, Indianapolis, San Francisco, Buffalo, Tacoma, San Antonio, Atlanta, Memphis and Denver.

The demonstrations were fostered by the Firestone Ship-by-truck Bureau, at Akron, O., which has branches in the 63 largest cities of the United States. Scores of city and state officials, civic bodies and truck dealers gave enthusiastic support.

Injections of turpentine can be used to preserve wood from insects.

The Father of the Motor Truck Industry

B. A. GRAMM.

Mr. B. A. Gramm, Vice-President and General Manager of The Gramm-Bernstein Motor Truck Company, of Lima, Ohio, enjoys the unique distinction of being the father of the motor truck industry in America.

Many years ago, before the motor truck had been heard of, and in fact, while passenger cars were still in their infancy, Mr. Gramm was cashier of a small country bank. It was then that he conceived the idea that some day there would be a big demand for motor trucks, to replace not only horse drawn, but also railway transportation.

Of course, wise ones laughed up their sleeves and pitied the man with a vision which they said would never come true. However, B. A. Gramm stuck to his idea so faithfully that quality truck buyers from all corners of the world have been coming to his door and buying Gramm-Bernstein trucks for some years past.

Mr. Gramm's first truck was a crude one cylinder affair, built in 1901. In 1904 he built the first two cylinder truck, and in 1906 the first four cylinder truck.

On account of his ripe experience and his preeminence as the father of the industry in this country, The Gramm-Bernstein Motor Truck Company was chosen by the Government to build the first Liberty Truck, and that time many Gramm-Bernstein features were adopted bodily for the Liberty Truck, since they had long since proved themselves practical and successful beyond ordinary truck operation.

This year Mr. Gramm is again pioneering the way by selling his trucks completely equipped and without any extras to buy, as has always been the case heretofore.

CLAIM FOR TIRES;
$1000 BACK OF IT

Any car user: who in the past eight months has presented one Dayton, O. Company an adjustment request on the cord tire it is featuring may obtain $1000 by calling at the manager's office, according to an advertisement the company recently inserted in Dayton newspapers.

The advertisement created much comment locally, but two weeks after it appeared the company had not been called upon to pay any person the $1,000, its manager said. And he added that no person will claim the money as he is sure no adjustment request had been made during the eight months covered.

That the offer could be made because sales had been slow does not hold in this instance, according to the advertisement, which stated that in the current year the company's tire sales business has shown a fifty per cent gain over last year, and that ninety per cent of the business represents sales of the tire, which is the new construction Firestone cord.

The 476 Tire Company placed the ad. The offer covered the Firestone product for other passenger cars or trucks.

MOTOR TRUCKS ON THE FARM

By H. V. Evans, Advertising Manager, The Gram-Bernstein Motor Truck Company.

The unlimited possibilities of the motor truck on the farm were clearly proven in the recent National Motor Truck Development Tour, which ended at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, October 4, 1919.

This tour was composed of nineteen motor trucks, each of a different make, all equipped with various types of bodies suitable for farm work. The tour left Chicago on August 4, and went through the States of Illinois, Iowa, South Dakota, North Dakota, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, a total of about thirty-five hundred miles.

The tour was conducted so that stops were made of from two hours to three days at various towns en route, and actual demonstrations were made of the practicability of the truck on the farm, by hauling loads of all sorts of farm merchandise in each of the states.

The illustration shows the Gram-Bernstein Motor Truck Company's entry, a 1 1/2 ton hauling a load of baled straw for Mr. W. E. Hill, a farmer of Alexandria, South Dakota.

The United States Government gave their (formal) approval of the tour by furnishing a Jackie Bank of thirty pieces which accomplished the trucks on which to grow crops for the tour had the official sanction of the Government, the members were permitted to distribute advertising matter or to make any attempt to sell trucks. The tour was conducted simply for the benefit of the motor truck industry as a whole and not as a selling or advertising proposition for the truck manufacturers themselves.

Major E. H. Lusk, of the Motor Transport Corps, of the United States Army, was detailed by the Government to accompany the trucks and investigate the possibility of the motor truck on the farm, also report on the advantages of pneumatic tires over solid tires on motor trucks for farmwork.

All the trucks in the tour were pneumatic equipped and, to a great extent, the success of the tour was due to the fact that pneumatic tires over solid tires were used, on account of the new roads encountered which have proved impassable with solid tires. In many instances it was necessary to take the loaded truck over plowed ground and through the mud, and the pneumatic tires carried the trucks through where solid tires would have failed miserably.

It is only within the last few months that the farmer has begun to learn that the motor truck is just as indispensable to the profitable operation of his farm as his other farm machinery. Only three per cent of the products raised on his farm are consumed by the farmer, and the balance ninety-seven per cent must be hauled to market. Government figures show that it costs the American farmer an average of $3.37 per ton mile to haul his farm products by horse and wagon, compared to $1.15 per ton mile by motor truck. The motor truck is capable of making three round trips is two and one-half miles each day of grain from the fields to the threshing machines, gravel, milk and cream, etc. It was equipped with big pneumatic cord truck tires as were all the other trucks in the caravan, and finished the entire run on schedule time with the original air in all four tires.

The truck averaged seven miles to the gallon of gasoline, and 500 miles to the quart of oil. It finished in perfect mechanical condition, no repairs or adjustments having been made during the entire trip.

Gram-Bernstein builds suitable farm bodies for their 1 1/2 and 2 ton chassis, which are the best capacities for farm use, and will be glad to give complete information with reference to the use of the motor truck on the farm, to interested parties.

Uncle Sam says that the motor truck is one of the solutions of the high cost of living problem. There are 27,000,000 working horses in the United States on farms, and the Government figures show that if half of these horses are replaced by motor trucks there will be 57,500,000 acres of land released upon which to grow crops for the consumption of humans. Uncle Sam says that it is not only a proposition for the farmer's own advantage to use trucks instead of horses, but that it is his patriotic duty.

On farms that are properly motorized with motor trucks and tractors, increased acreage can be handled and increased yields secured, for example, if the farmer can save more time with motor trucks and tractors instead of horses, he can more thoroughly prepare the ground for his corn and it will grow more time for cultivation. It is just as easy to produce a thirty bushel crop of corn on a thirty bushel acre crop, as a thirty bushel crop of corn on a thirty bushel acre crop. In the Middle States is $24, while the cost per bushel of a thirty bushel crop of corn is $1.21. Not only has the farmer the added thirty bushels of corn, but has an additional $1.13 per bushel profit on his total yield.

The more government farmers loaded trucks over plowed ground and through the mud, and the pneumatic tires carried the trucks through where solid tires would have failed miserably.

At an accurate report of cost and operation was sent during the motor truck tour just finished and these reports were presented to the Government to form the basis for a pamphlet which will soon be issued for the information of the American farmer.

The Gram-Bernstein Motor Truck Company's truck made a total of 15,172 miles on the tour and hauled 112,000 times more wheat and oats, live stock, white and grey, than

LOUISVILLE HAS TRUCK DEPOT

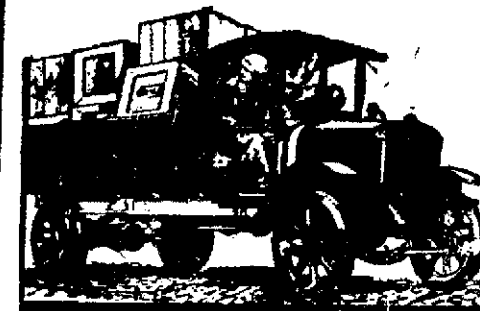

Operators of motor truck routes radiating out of Louisville have organized for the purpose of establishing a central depot to which the shipper may send his goods destined for farms or towns on the routes. Small shipments coming into Louisville also will be distributed from the depot. An expert on transportation matters has been engaged to take charge of the station. The terminal organization, which will have the backing of seven companies operating rural routes, was formed through the activity of the Firestone Ship by Truck Bureau's branch at Louisville. It is expected to solve the return loads problem in that territory.

EXCHANGE SPARK PLUGS TO TEST FAULTY ENGINE

If in doubt as to whether a spark plug is good or defective, try the following test. Exchange plugs with a five cylinder engine. If the trouble follows the plug is a fault. If it remains in the same cylinder the plug is not at fault.

AUTOMOBILES ADVISED TO USE TEN GAUGE WIRE FOR LAMP

Contrary to ideas of many car owners, there is considerable difference in the properties of electric light wire. For instance, the resistance of number ten gauge copper wire, 15 feet long is two and one-half ohms. That of the same length of number 14 wire is four ohms or greater.

The electric lights on the motor car call for the number ten gauge wire, because that is the best gauge to use.

These Articles Are of Vital Importance to Every Ford Owner In This Section of the State. Don't Fail to Read Each Article Thoroughly---

SEE OUR NEW SERVICE DEPARTMENT

No. 1

The Ford Car

is built along practical lines and the public does not have to be instructed as to its merits as a service-giving automobile. The Ford is as near "fool-proof" as it is possible to build an automobile. The manufacturer has kept in mind the necessity of making a car for the people, and has been rewarded by having a greater demand for his product than he can supply.

But at the best the Ford is only a machine, and machinery, even in the best regulated families, will sometimes go wrong. To enumerate the causes for mishaps would be superfluous—suffice it to say that accidents will happen.

No. 2

has been worked out along the same lines that has made the Ford car the most generally used and the most generally satisfactory automobile in the world.

It is the purpose of this article to explain some features of Ford Service, as it has been systematized and Fordized, by the power behind the throne up at Detroit.

As the manufacturer sees it there are two phases to the business of supplying the world with Ford cars—manufacturing them and keep them running—and one is just as essential as the other. The Ford Company has perfected both systems. The world knows about the car, and it is our purpose to impart some information that is just as useful and just as practical about the other phase of the business—Ford Service.

No. 3

A Flat Rate

system has been evolved, by which every detail of repair, rebuilding and overhauling is covered, and through which the charge for service has been fixed. The prices for service has been determined by experts, who have ascertained the proper amount of time and labor that must be given to each and every operation. And these prices are the same the world over.

A Flat Rate as we have said before, means that every patron of a repair shop pays the same for any job of work. For example: If a rear axle is to be overhauled, the price is fixed and is the same to everybody. If difficulty is encountered in one job that is not found in another, the car owner does not have to pay for the trouble unless it be for new parts, which are the same price to all.

No. 4

a motor, for instance, costs the same to everybody. If the condition of one motor is found to be much worse than another, and the work required to put it in shape much more tedious, the burden falls upon the shop, and not upon the man who is paying for it.

The price for every kind of repair work is the same to everybody, and all the responsibility for encountering difficulties and delays in doing the work, falls upon our repair shop—not upon the owner of the car, who is not obliged to pay for our men's time, but merely for the job of work, which, the system provides, shall cost him the minimum price for experienced work. He does not have to pay for our lost time or for any trouble but his own.

No. 5

Our Superintendent

is Ford-factory trained. He knows exactly how the work has to be done in every particular. His training supplements a long practical experience and we are in a position to apply the Flat Rate System perfectly—for the sake of our patrons—not for our own advantage, except that service and correctness mean as much to us as to our own patrons in the long run.

No. 6

Special Machinery

The Lima Ford agency is equipped with special machinery built for the Ford Motor Company, covering every operation on the car. In overhauling your motor, Mr. Ford Owner, how do you know that the connecting rods and crank shaft are replaced in proper line? Experience has taught the Ford Motor Company that the very best mechanics, no matter what price they are paid, are unable to tell whether the crank shaft has been replaced in proper line, and connecting rods in proper line, simply through his judgment and skill.

We know it takes machines to tell these faults. Connecting rods, crank shaft and cam shafts are properly tested before being replaced in your motor. If they are not in proper alignment, they are straightened in a cold press which does not destroy the temper of the steel. This same process applies to all parts returnable to the motor in the overhauling process.

No. 7

Electric Machines

The bearings in your motor are of vital importance. The very highest paid mechanics cannot scrape the surface of your babbitt bearings, and give you more than forty-five per cent. bearing surface.

The Lima Ford Agency is equipped with the Ford Electric Burning and Running-in Stand in which the bearings are burned in dry to a point where they give one hundred per cent bearing surface. The motor is then completely assembled without further adjustment of the bearings, which leave them perfect. Oil, gas and water is then applied to your motor and the same is then operated under its own power in this electric machine the same as though it were running in your motor car, and while in this position the motor is tested to a point that when it is returned to your car it is in perfect condition.

Remember only machines can do this kind of work, and at a great saving of time which results in a large saving of labor cost to you, Mr. Ford Owner.

No. 8

In Conclusion

You can not expect your car to render the proper service by using parts not made by the Ford Motor Company.

Don't allow any parts placed in your car except through an authorized Ford dealer, if you do you are cheating both yourself and the Ford car.

Let us summarize the Ford plan of Flat Rate repair charges. It means in general the carrying out of the Ford system of manufacture—the cost-reducing system that has made "Ford" a household word all over the world—in repairing Ford cars. In particular it means that every man who buys a Ford wants it to give him service—and so do we want it to give service.

No. 9

of a sort that makes the car satisfactory to the user, is our object. Treating everybody alike in the matter of furnishing everybody with a good car is a problem that has been solved by the Ford Company. Treating everybody alike in the matter of service—keeping all cars running and in perfect order—is also worked out by the Flat Rate System, which provides the same charge for every particular job of work on the Ford car, everybody paying the same as everybody else, regardless of the difficulties that may arise in the shop as the mechanics do the work. Under the Flat Rate System the car owner is not penalized for our delays or our difficulties in doing the work, should there be any. The whole burden is laid upon us. The price is based upon rapid and correct work by experts, and we have to meet such conditions—and that is all the owner has to pay for.

IT'S ALL FOR YOU

with all the responsibility upon us—that is what the Flat Rate System of repairs means. It is the only flawless system and the only system that we could honestly proclaim to you as the best and cheapest. Let us sell you the Ford and then keep in running, both on the same low-cost and perfect-service basis.

Ford Owner

The "Ship by Truck" slogan owes its popularity to day to H. S. Firestone of Akron, O.

One of the most striking features of motor car development has been the trend toward the motor car becoming a motor car manufacturer's responsibility, comprising all or part of their line of closures with car heaters.

This may be regarded as an indication that before long a heater will be considered as a necessary part of standard equipment to the motor car, just as a starter.

Comfort is the first thing that opens the door to the motor car. It is certain only a heater will give car owners and their passengers a warm and comfortable ride.

Indeed, car manufacturers have always been glad to include comfort in all their cars. But it is a warm and comfortable car that will advance the car's value and comfort to a very high level, without a furnace and dependence on raw materials and fuel for production.

For this reason, when a car manufacturer is developing a motor car heater, Automobile manufacturers and dealer salesmen are looking for a heater that will do the following:

1. Heat the car interior in winter.

2. Defrost the windshield and windows.

3. Defrost the radiator.

search of closed cars to sell. Dealers able to take care of their closed car prospects in many cases may be able to induce the prospect to accept a touring car equipped with hot firing cylinders and a heater as a worthy substitute to meet the sit-

There is also a vast number of motorists who cannot afford to pay the normal price of a closed car and who require all year use of their car. In these cases also car heaters have an unusually strong appeal.

It seems to me a logical step to carry the heater to the truck field. I have seen the trucks and trucks are obligated to use in all kinds of weather and it is as natural that they should have the same comfort afforded by the heater as the manufacturer of the truck has no equipment here can be done with well timing side curtains and the air is getting a constant

Any garage, whether public or private, should be equipped with a chemical fire extinguisher. Sand is also serviceable in case of fire. It is unusual for a carburetor to catch fire on no apparent reason, and should be used to extinguish the fire instead of unnecessary work is entailed. A chemical extinguisher will produce better results and avoid unnecessary labor after the fire has been extinguished. It is well to note that a chemical fire extinguisher should be kept freshly charged.

It is order to become familiar with the location and feel of the lever it is advisable for motorists to use the emergency brake occasionally in normal work. This is suggested so that in the event of an emergency there will be no fumbling in using it. Also this occasional use will reveal when the brake is out of order.

Frequent adjustment of the spark points will often obviate a disagreeable miss in the motor when running. If a plug is foul or the points are too far apart, a miss is bound to result. Very often the carburetor or magneto is blamed when the source of trouble really lies at the plug

In order to prevent the silvering of lamp reflectors from tarnishing when not in use it is good to give the surface a light coating of alcohol in which colloidal has been dissolved. This will form an excellent protection and is easily washed off with warm water.

In laying up a car for the winter care should be taken to cover the nickel or brass finishings with a lubricant, especially is this true with nickel finishings. This will prevent undue rust and save considerable trouble when the car is again placed in service.

CHICKENS AND SWINE.
Much confusion appears to prevail in the minds of Ohio hog owners and others relative to outbreaks of so-called Hemorrhagic Septicemia in swine. The disease is not new save Dr. L. P. Beechy, extension veterinarian of the Ohio State University. It was recognized and very accurately described by Moore and Smith in 1889.

Swine plague is rarely found as an independent disease but is commonly found associated with cholera or other infectious disease. It is caused by a micro-organism known as Bacillus Swine.

is commonly found in filthy hog houses and pens where hogs have been kept for a long time. It does not always cause disease but when animals are subjected to other ailments or conditions which have a tendency to lower their resistance the germs of swine plague often cause considerable damage.

The disease is not easily distinguished from cholera. In fact, in many cases, it is next to impossible to make a distinction on a naked eye examination. Swine plague does not run thru a herd as rapidly nor destroy as large a percentage of the pigs as cholera. It is more uniform in a lung disease than cholera, and occurs much less frequently. Ninety per cent of the outbreaks of infectious diseases in swine in Ohio are cholera which can be prevented by the timely application of the serum virus treatment.

Various kinds of bacteria for the prevention of swine plague are on the market. The U S Bureau of Animal Industry is conducting investigations to determine the value of such products.

Experience has demonstrated that in many instances swine plague has been checked by changing the hogs to fresh quarters. Frequent changes in locations of hog lots coupled with disinfection of stables will go forward to preventing this disease.

name of "flu" has been applied to outbreaks of swine plague.

The other morning the Times reporter walked down Main street and noticed a small, brown, curly-haired dog standing in front of one of those candy dispensaries where one can purchase sweets without going inside. The eager little nose of the canine was stretched in the direction of the opening through which purchases are handed out. The stump of a tail on the animal's rear elevation was wagging eagerly. It was either in gratitude for a favor just received or in anticipation of a

At noon the reporter passed the spot again. Again he noticed the little brown dog sitting out side the candy shop window, wagging his tail. Late in the afternoon he passed that way again. There was the little brown dog, still sitting on the hard pavement just beneath the opening, and his stumpy tail was still wagging. He could scarcely have been sitting there all day, and if he belonged to the proprietor of the shop he would probably have been inside. He decided that probably the proprietor was accustomed to throw him a few sweets occasionally.

The Short Haul Slogan Of The Oil Industry

When you buy gasoline for your motor car, your farm engine, or kerosene for your heater or lantern, you benefit directly from a finely organized method of transportation and distribution. Your purchase of a quart of engine oil or a pint of benzene has called into play not merely manufacturing facilities of world-wide scope, but a system of moving goods that stands as a pattern for all modern business.

In seeking the crude oil and bringing it from inaccessible regions to the refineries the truck and the trailer play a part that few laymen appreciate. And in bearing the many products of petroleum to every city and countryside throughout the world the motor truck is a familiar sight. That the truck and trailer play so important a part in the distribution of a staple of modern life, speed, certainty and inexpensiveness.

Ship by Truck in the oil industry is making it easier, surer and less costly for every one of us to use the oil products that have become an essential part of modern life.

Poor roads, or even no roads at all, are likely to be met with in the oil country. Heavy machinery and apparatus—tanks, boilers and supplies of all kinds—must be moved and nowhere is time more vital than in drilling and equipping wells. Trucks and truck tractors are now in constant operation in such territories, hauling at lower cost and in shorter time than is possible with teams.

As an example in Oklahoma an 8000 pound oil pump was loaded on a truck with a winch, which was operated by the truck and moved to its new location in an hour. Using horses it was estimated that the loading alone would have required half a day. In Wyoming an engine house weighing 28,000 pounds which had previously taken twenty-four horses to move, was moved on a 5-ton chassis with trailer and successfully hauled to its destination.

The rapid development of the famous Burkburnett field was made possible largely by motor haulage of the necessary equipment. A 312 ton truck owned by the Humble Oil & Refining Co. performs work equivalent to that of six double teams, which may be hired for $9 a piece in the Burkburnett field. One of the large manufacturers and setters-up of oil and water tanks replaced their ninety horses with a fleet of twenty-two motor trucks, and were able to carry a smaller stock of tanks at their distributing points in this territory. With trucks the tanks could be transferred from one point to another in a minimum of time as compared with the railroads.

Trucks are used extensively in laying new pipe lines. A large fleet was used by the Pacific Oil and Gas Company in building a line over 200 miles long and with a capacity of 70,000 gallons of oil a day, between Ranger and Galveston, Texas.

Refineries supplied by rail shipments and pipe lines now depend on trucks to distribute the finished products. Greater capacity and an increased delivery radius give trucks a wide margin of economy over horse-drawn vehicles.

Garages, service stations, dealers and repair men in congested cities and small towns are served quickly and efficiently by trucks from storage tanks. Trucks are likewise supplying the farmers who are dependent on fuel and oil for the operation of power machinery which is rapidly changing the complexion of farming activities and rural life. Here the truck is a basic factor in the great movement to motorize the farm with trucks and tractors.

Ship by Truck is a growing power. The oil industry is but one example of the stimulus lent to all American business by this better method of transportation. The public interest that has been displayed in the many Ship by Truck demonstrations, held during the past six months in all parts of the country, places this movement in the very forefront of our reconstruction program.

WOMEN BECOMING ADEPTS IN THE ART OF AUTO DRIVING

Women no longer look askance at the seat behind the wheel of an automobile. Their reluctance to drive a gasoline car in the past few years has been a reversal of form with the result that today women are as deft in the manipulation of the clutch pedal, the accelerator and the shifting lever as men.

This evolution is due to the foresight of the manufacturer of gasoline automobiles in his insistence upon simplified construction, with particular reference to the driving mechanism of the car. There is no mystery connected with the driving operation of the Nash Six. Women long since have discovered that to drive this car is a very simple process in which physical effort is practically negligible.

The shifting lever of the Nash Six is of the ball and socket type, and its operation requires little effort, the clutch pedal is thrust into position with the mere push of the foot, and the foot-brake pedal responds to like pressure. These features have a particular appeal to women, as has also the hand, or emergency brake, which is within easy access of the driver and may be "set" so as to lock the wheels at a moment's notice and without any undue exertion.

THE NEW 5 TON GRAMM-BERNSTEIN

Worm Drive---completely equipped as described--$5500---no extras

NOTE—Regular equipment includes; sturdy radiator guard, attached to frame independent of radiator—the Grammm-Bernstein type adopted for Liberty Trucks; radiator shutter, operated from driver's seat—facilitates starting, saves gasoline; rear radiator shroud devised by B. A. Grammm, and adopted for Liberty Trucks, to promote cooling efficiency; army towing hooks at front end to prevent damage caused by towing through front frame member or axle; Boyce Motometer, to indicate temperature of engine; exceptionally rugged ventilating metal windshield; electric generator, side lights with dimmers and non-glare lenses; bull's eye tail light protected in frame; dash light, electric horn; front fenders and steps; standard Grammm-Bernstein cab, with doors and storm curtains; patent Grammm-Bernstein "always in mesh" transmission (see description) with outside filler spout for renewing oil in case; patented wick oilers on all spring bolts, which are hardened and ground; spring trailer drawbar with locking device at rear end, supported by extra "A" member; metal license brackets front and rear; 100,000 mile hub-odometer; cast metal wheels. In other words, Grammm-Bernstein furnishes with the chassis over $500 worth of necessary equipment sold by other manufacturers as extras.

There is no question, B. A. Grammm says, that this new 5-ton Grammm-Bernstein is the best truck of its size which he has ever built.

That, and the Grammm-Bernstein record of performance, should be ample assurance to American business men. But we have gone even further.

Before a single one of these trucks was produced for Market, the first of its type had been proven out in a test equal to two years of hard work.

This truck, with the first Liberty Truck motor released by the U. S. Government for commercial use, was run fully loaded 18,000 miles, much of it over the worst mountain roads of Pennsylvania.

Under full load it was driven up Giants Despair in less time, so far as we can learn, than was ever made by any other truck. The one thing this terrific 18,000 mile test did was to prove beyond doubt the soundness of our engineering and our correctness in choosing and co-ordinating truck units.

For the only things necessary to put the truck into first class mechanical shape were valve grinding and a bearing adjustment of 4-one-thousandths of an inch.

And this, mark you, after mileage approximating two years' usual travel on a 5 ton truck, under conditions that were unusually severe.

When the government needed trucks, Washington called on Mr. Grammm.

Here, at this plant, was built the first Liberty truck for the army.

Now this 5-ton Grammm-Bernstein is driven by the Liberty truck engine first released by the government in 1918 to Grammm-Bernstein for commercial use.

More than that, it carries the other Grammm-Bernstein characteristics—the trouble proof transmission, the pad for attaching the patented power take off, the Hotchkiss drive, the radiator shroud and shutter, and such complete equipment that there are no extras to buy.

If for no other reason, these details are important as the fruit of the longest truck building experience in the industry. We recite these facts, so that business men may know what to expect from this truck.

It is a heavy truck for heavy hauling; with more ton miles built into it, we honestly believe, than ever before known. In every respect it will live up to the high Grammm-Bernstein reputation.

TEXAS OIL BOOMS CREATE NEW AND NOVEL USES FOR AUTOS

Another reason why the motor car companies are so hard put to it to keep their production somewhere within hailing distance of demand is cited by Howard Harvey, of Dallas, Texas. Out in the desert someone discovered oil—and the rush began.

It was only then a day or so before a steady procession of passenger cars and trucks began making endless trips to and from this patch of land ninety miles away from Dallas, which was, until the discovery, no more than a desert waste.

The town, still nameless at the time of this writing, is built in tents which were hauled in automobiles from the railway more than sixty miles distant. The population was well over fifteen hundred people by the time drilling commenced.

Days are busily spent in preparation for sinking the wells and in rushing to completion the giant tanks which government restrictions require in order to prevent waste, before the mineral drainage is permitted. And the nights, in an atmosphere reminiscent of the Klondike, are passed in harmless revelry at the canvas soft drink emporiums.

According to Harvey, the price of a dollar and a half for a cup of coffee and a sandwich, appealing as it would be to even those of us who are thoroughly injured to the H. C. of L., is regarded as nothing out of the ordinary. The prospect of sudden riches from the oil laden land outweighs any present inconvenience or expense.

Cut off from outside the present communities would be impossible were it not for the constant train of automobiles traveling back and forth from the distant railway. The road, as might be expected, is little better than a track in the sand, and very bad in many places, yet the traffic rolls on almost without interruption.

Such a circumstance actually results in an exalted idea of the importance of the motor car and it is noticed that motor cars are among the first purchases of many of those who grow suddenly rich thru these oil discoveries.

dreds of experiments, but when it came to a remedy it failed.

The new trees are attacked before they are able to get a start. Sometimes they are able to attain a size of an inch or two in diameter; then the brown spots appear and the trees soon die. The new shoots are infected from the stumps of the old trees that had been killed by the disease.

At the present rate the Pennsylvania Commission estimates chestnut timber will be extinct in the eastern states in about ten years.

ALLIES VISIT CLEVELAND CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 15.—Eighty representative business men and manufacturers of the four principal European allies, England, France, Italy and Belgium, now touring the country as delegates to the international trade conference were guests of Cleveland today. At a meeting of local bankers and the delegates, Cleveland financiers pledged their support to the visitors to secure financial assistance and aid them in restoring their credits and exchange rates to a normal basis.

CHESTNUT IN WAY TO BECOME EXTINCT

The chestnut roaster we used to see on every street corner at this season a few years ago appears to be gone the way of the buffalo and the passenger pigeon. The chestnut has become scarce and correspondingly is high.

It is all on account of the chestnut blight. The disease, which attacks young and old trees alike, is beyond control, although scientists have long been trying to discover a remedy.

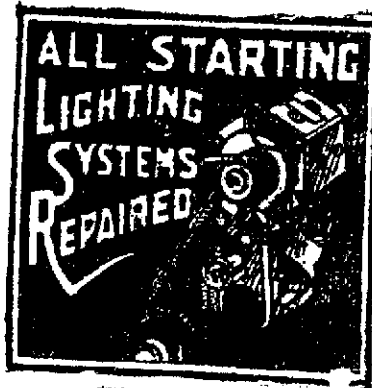

In Pennsylvania there is no community or stand of chestnut trees that has not been affected by it. It is now beginning to invade the Virginias, Kentucky and the Carolinas. This belt, one of the richest in the world in chestnut timber, will in the course of a few years have no chestnut trees at all, as the only thing to do is to cut down the afflicted tree and burn it. It is estimated that the loss of the chestnut trees in Pennsylvania alone, where they have been most prolific, amounts to more than $60,000,000.

According to the scientists the loss of the nuts is trivial as compared with the loss of the timber. After the tree is first attacked, strangely enough, the blight causes it to bear more fruit for about two years, but the nuts are wormy, although they appear perfect when gathered and show no outward signs of imperfection. Soon the trees wither, rot and die.

The State Chestnut Commission of Pennsylvania has used up several large appropriations, gathered a mass of information and made hun-

Ohio Dry Vote Decision Up To Highest Court

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Validity of the Ohio constitutional referendum amendment under which the federal constitutional prohibition amendment was submitted to the electorate of that state last week and defeated by them is to be determined by the United States supreme court.

George S. Hawke, an attorney of Cincinnati, filed appeals with the court today in proceedings brought by him to enjoin the state officials from submitting the federal woman suffrage constitutional amendment to the voters. The lower court upheld the constitutionality of the Ohio amendment.

N. Y. FEDERAL COURT UPHOLDS WAR DRY ACT

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Federal Judge Learned Hand refused today to grant injunctions restraining enforcement of the Volstead prohibition act.

"I hold that the war-time prohibition act remains a valid exercise of the congressional power," Judge Hand said in his decision. "Though the sale justification of the war-time prohibition act is to prohibit the sale of intoxicants it may be impossible effectively to accept that end without including all kinds of beer."

Federal Judge John C. Knox, in decisions handed down this afternoon in similar cases also held that the prohibition laws are constitutional.

GOOD ANSWERS

What are some of the claims of the Allen County Savings & Loan Company?

It pays depositors interest at the rate of five per cent per annum. It receives deposits on savings accounts as small as one dollar or as large as the depositor desires. It lends money upon first mortgage real estate security only. It has never had a loss on any loan.

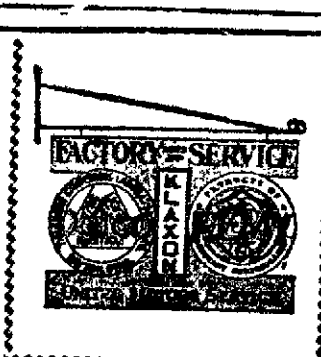

Its total assets have doubled in five years and now amount to more than two million one hundred thousand dollars.

It has surplus and undivided profits of more than sixty one thousand dollars.

It is under State supervision and inspection.

Its customers are satisfied. Ask your neighbor; he is probably one of them.

BUENOS AIRES—The high value of the American dollar as a medium of exchange and the low value of the German mark is enabling German houses to sell goods here cheaper than they did before the war. Their prices are so far below those of American and other Allied countries that, for the moment, there is no possibility of competition.

The Protector of the Home is the Protector of the Government

Invariably the homeless, shiftless and irresponsible are the advocates of impractical theories and policies in government.

Russia has been a fertile field for the Anarchists and Bolsheviks because of the millions who have been down-trodden and oppressed and neither permitted to own their own homes or to retain a decent portion of what they rightfully earned. No real experience in home-making has been theirs. Why should they support the autocratic government which took all?

Here in America workers—vast armies of energetic citizens everywhere—own their own homes. They are housed in cottages and habitats beyond even the ambitions of those unfortunate, ignorant and impractical subjects of autocracy abroad.

Americans drawn from every nation under the sun who have acquired a measure of independence under the Stars and Stripes seek no advice from the radicals organized for violence, who would rob them of their hard-earned possessions.

The home-owners of America and their sons fought on the fields of Europe to bring such Liberty as they themselves enjoy to the oppressed of other lands. So may they be depended upon to protect their homes here in America and to support the Government of which they are a living part.

Give no heed to the wailings of the Bolsheviks. The Protector of the Home will Protect the Government against the hordes who, in their acts, admit their weaknesses and their greed.
